Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed April 14, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The strip of Beaudry is disclosed as flexible (abstract), thus capable of assuming any shape. Further a change in the shape of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Dailey, 357 F.2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1966). Likewise a change in the size of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Rose, 220 F.2d 459, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955). The claim limitations based on an intended use of the device do not impact the device structure and are not given any patentable weight.

The examiner notes for the record that a strip of common adhesive tape is capable of separating areas of tissue.

Election/Restrictions

Newly submitted claims 28-32 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: method steps have not been previously searched or addressed.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claim 28-32 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Objections

Claim 27 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. The intended use of a device does not impact the device structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 13, 19 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO 1997/42918 to Beaudry. Beaudry teaches at least one strip of material with adhesive applied to one side of each of its two ends. This strip is disclosed as a structure for providing a lifting force to a predetermined area of the epidermis (page 2, lines 6-7), this is interpreted as being capable of providing such forces to any area of a body. The limitation of separating tissue is based on intended use with no impact on the device structure and given no patentable weight. The flexible strip is capable of assuming the shape of a crescent.

Regarding claim 27, the intended use cited does not further limit the device structure.

Claims 13, 19 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 4,133,307 to Ness. Ness teaches an elongated strip of elastic material (Col. 2, lines 26-27) having end portions (Fig. 1, #s 17 & 18) with adhesive (Col. 2, lines 32-33). The structure when applied around a users leg is interpreted as crescent (Fig. 4), however, the device is interpreted as capable of assuming many shapes.

Regarding claim 27, the intended use cited does not further limit the device structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 14, 15 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 1997/42918 to Beaudry. Claim 14 is a duplication of the strip of claim 13. Duplication of parts is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Harza, 274 F.2d 669, 124 USPQ 378 (CCPA 1960).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. U.S. Patents 2,310,082 and 4,732,146 teach strips with adhesive at end portions. U.S. Patent 6,018,092 teaches multiple strips with adhesive at end portions.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
